About Wordarch

Wordarch is an independent game localization studio based in the UK.

Indie game publishers and studios work directly with us to get the most out of the Turkish gaming market through localization at its best.

Wordarch is a boutique studio. Not an agency. We don't outsource our work. We don't use machine translation or AI.

We pride ourselves on the quality of our localisation and believe that great localisation makes a difference: In numbers - for our clients - and in experience - for our gaming audience.

We are good at making interactive experiences accessible, enjoyable and inspiring for the Turkish audience through remarkable localisation.

We are a small team, our availability is limited and we excel at small to mid-sized projects. [1K to 500K words]

When you work with us, you get better quality and value than working with agencies.

Get out of your comfort zone and gain an edge. Trade the mere convenience of agencies for human brilliance in Turkish localization with Wordarch.

We are you, in Turkish.

Double you.

Co-Founder, Project Manager & Proofreader

Wordarch Studio started out as a husband & wife team in 2018.

And we are still a deliberately small team of carefully selected, trained and seasoned freelancers. We like it that way. It keeps us fast and focused. It keeps us human.

We live up to the 'Wordarcher' title with every project we take on, by making every single word find its target.

And 'Wordarch' is what we call this practice of mastery.
